Re: Contractor Data Security

Dear ADOT Contractor:

In May 2007 the Arizona Department of Transportation (ADOT) awarded a contract to B2Gnow to provide web-based software for tracking contract and labor compliance. Before the award ADOT conducted an extensive evaluation process that included a comprehensive screening by ADOT IT personnel. The screening included verifying the high degree of data security and privacy provided by the B2Gnow solution.

Data security and privacy is a top priority for B2Gnow and we have invested heavily to guarantee that your contract, payment, and employee data is safe and secure. Our technical infrastructure guarantees that no one other than approved ADOT personnel can access the data. These approved ADOT personnel are the same individuals who currently have access to the hard copy documents.

The only exception is B2Gnow's System Administrator who must access system data for routine maintenance and support. Our System Administrators must go through comprehensive background and reference checks and be able to secure government clearance. Additionally, B2Gnow has a signed non-disclosure agreement (NDA) with ADOT and it is our policy to never release customer data without written customer approval.

To guarantee this high level of data security B2Gnow has implemented a sophisticated technology infrastructure that includes secure data centers, triple-tier firewalls, intrusion detection, 3rd-party system monitoring, and a secure database architecture. Our commitment to data security has yielded perfect results. Since our founding in 1999, B2Gnow has never had a server compromised and we have never had a situation where customer data was accessed by an unauthorized party.

B2Gnow is firmly committed to the success of ADOT and their contractors. Should you have any additional questions regarding B2Gnow's data privacy and security policies, please contact me personally at 602-325-9277.
