2019 COPPERSTATE FLY-IN

When the Aircraft Registration Team headed to the 2019 Copper State Fly In at the Buckeye Airport we had no idea of the magnitude of the event. We arrived to find displays of amphibious aircraft and large military transport planes. There were smaller military aircraft and equipment on display and a large section of park and show personal aircraft. We moved through the vendor section where they had some amazing aircraft and related equipment for sale. Need an easy way to move your aircraft by hand? There was a vendor selling a remote controlled plane moving system that was able to move a plane through tight areas do to the track system it used instead of wheels. Need an ultra-light style aircraft on huge oversized tires for landing in rough terrain? Yep they had it there. The fly-in also had a large section roped off where you could display your aircraft for sale. There were some amazing sights as the Buckeye Air Fair kicked off and lots of forums and workshops to attend throughout the weekend. They had youth activities set up and we saw several school field trips in attendance, helping to get the love of aviation to a new generation. There was an ample free parking if you choose to drive instead of fly, and with various food vendors there were plenty of options for refreshments. The 2020 Copperstate Fly-In has been expanded to 4 days and runs February 6 through the 9th.
